

I am against the expansion of LPFM stations as they take priority over current FM translator services that currently broadcast stations such as K-LOVE. There are a lot of adults and teenagers that listen to wholesome broadcasting such as K-LOVE. Edging these types of stations off the air leaves our children listening to secular music that usually doesn't promote the best value system. I hope the FCC doesn't go forward with this change.